COMPANY HISTORY

SDB's Sustaining Operations Division has been performing facility work since the company's inception in 1981. We've retained a high profile clientele and continue to work at their large corporate facilities because of our accountability and accessibility to the client.

The need for contracting in an operating facility means the owner desires to expand business functionality with minimum facility downtime. We approach every job with the goal of minimizing business interruption. From multiple shifts, to massive mobilized manpower for 24 hour shutdown, SDB has the experience to perform around the clock and get the client back to work. Our long history of facility work is proof of our success and we would like to share our knowledge and expertise on your next project.
